HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 10th, 1896.

WE are glad to see that our influential contemporary, the British Trade Journal, has taken up the question of the government of the Crown Colonies, and we hope lead to action. In arging that a Royal will continue to work on the theme until it succeeds in raising a general discussion in the press, which would in all probability of coal, left during the night for Manile. The Commission should be appointed to investigate the whole subject with a view to devise Barcelona to Singaporo in 23 days. She is to means of according a wider measure of selfgovernment to the British people of the Crown Colonies our contemporary says "Steps are taken every day in the solf-"governing colonies for the development "of trade and the improvement of the " colonists' condition which they would "never have been allowed to take under "Crown Colony rule. If such freedom can "be given to the millions of Australia, is "there any danger in bestowing it upon "the few hundreds or thousands of the smaller colonies?" This is written wi reference chiefly to the planting colonies, but the same remarks apply almost equally culty in getting evidence, first of all one story to commercial and distributing centres like Hongkoug. The cause of greater freedom will not be advanced, however, by exaggeration. In the same issue of the British Trade Journal in which the article we refer to appears, there appears also a letter signed Thomas D. Groven, and dated from Sava, Fiji Islands. Mr. GROVER Bays that his experience, gained by some years of commercial life, is that British Crown rule over small feeble colonies is death; he indulges in a violent tirude against British officials as a body and makes the following remarkable statements :- " I have "visited the French colonies and have no affords so as to enable them to take up arms on "hesitation in affirming that the system in "force among them is far superior, and is restricted to those who are either at present "must in the future tend to increase "their influence and prosperity, while that "of British Crown Colonies must decline. may be signed on Wednesday, Thursday, and "It is out of date and belongs to the four Friday this week or next from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

"cach other. In the French colonies every "interest is taken by the Government in "their welfare and progress by the Home "Government. Complaints are listened to. "and abuses restrained or removed." Mr. GROVER's experience must have been very exceptional to lead to such statements as these, or perhaps it may not be incorrect to suppose that smarting under some real or fancied grievance in Fiji he has allowed his imagination to run wild on subject of alien rule. Universal experience is against him as regards French colonial administration, which is notorious for its ineptness. Mr. GROVER's: letter is so absurdly extravagant that it would not be worthy of scrious attention were it not for the fact that prominence is given to it by a reference in our contemporary's leading article, in which we are told that it brings out vividly the condition and prospects of Fiji. A great deal too vividly, we should say. Nor can we concur in our contemporary's estimate of the character of the average colonial official. "Many of them," we are told, "unfortunately are the disaffected failures "of political, legal, or military life. They "regard their work in a Crown Colony as "involving a sort of expatriation. These "write endless letters on the smallness of their pay, the high cost of living and "dressing, and the monotony of life in the beastly hole to which an ungrateful "country has sent them. They care noth-"ing for their work, nor are their interests" settlers among whom they live. The height of their ambition is to be given a 'six months' leave of absence, upon which they pack up for London." On the contrary, the colonial officials are a well selected body of men, and it is not the individuals but the system that is to blame. The officials, however well intentioned they may be, cannot be expected to have a very clear apprehension of the requirements of a community with whose interests their own are only indirectly associated, and the tradition that officials and unofficials are to be regarded as occupying opposite camps acts as a blight on progress, proposals coming from an unofficial source being generally regarded with disfavour in the first instance, though they may ultimately after much circumlocution be adopted. If local affairs improvements could be effected with more rapidity and less friction. There were 2,363 visitors to the City Hall Museum last week, of whom 223 were Euro-

STORY OF THE ARCTIC OCEAN, Being a Series of Ten Articles, Descriptive of the Polar Regions, Lain and Perils in the Arctie Seas, &c.

DR. GORDON STABLES, R.N., Author of To Greenland and the Pole." The Cruise of the Snowbird," "Nature and Science," &co.

THE great amount of interest taken by the public at present in the Frozon North; and in the recent various Polar Expeditions, indicates the timeliness of a Series of Articles Tai On, British str., 769, Galleonski, Chinese. dealing with the Arctic Regions, and written by a competent authority. We have, therefore Taisang, British steemer, 1,505, Bawer, Nov. 8, pleasure in apnouncing that the Syndicate of which the Hongkong Daily Press is a member Tetartos, German str., 1,812, Cornelson, Oct. 25, has commissioned Dr. GORDON STABLES to write such a Series. Dr. Stables, who enjoys Tientsin British str., 1,250, Dawson, Nov. 9, large popularity as an Author, has twice visited the Polar Regions, and there is little about the Toonan, Chinese str., 941, Mertens, Nov. 4, Arotic Circle that he does not know and is not able to describe most graphically. The first Article appeared on 12th October Houghong, 12th October, 1898.
